

MANAGEMENT TORONTO REVIEWS ROUND UP

"this romantic comedy starring the ultracute Steve Zahn and Jennifer Aniston ultimately delivers the goods"

– Peter Brunette, The Hollywood Reporter

"Neatly mixing whimsical quirkiness, straight-faced absurdity and affecting melancholy, "Management" is a slight but likable dramedy that signals a promising directorial debut for playwright-screenwriter Stephen Belber. Pic benefits greatly from appealing perms by Jennifer Aniston and Steve Zahn, who deftly apply darker emotional shadings to their characters when necessary, and equally fine work from a small ensemble of solid supporting players."

– Joe Leydon, Variety

"Management is sweet and charming because it feels credible. This is a couple that you want to see winding up in each other's arms."

– Allan Hunter, Screen Daily

Los Angeles Times

"Jennifer Aniston can certainly be a force to be reckoned with"

– Mark Olsen, LA Times

"Sure-fire crowd-pleaser all the way."

– Scott Mantz, Access Hollywood
